UN / CEFACT

- The United Nations Centre for Trade Facilitation and Electronic Business (www.unece.org/cefact) develops policy recommendations and standards which form the backbone of international trade (UN/EDIFACT, UN/LOCODE)
- All standards are electronic, free, and open to:
 - ✓ Reduce technical and procedural barriers to trade
 - ✓ Enhance interoperability
 - ✓ Enable integration with electronic single windows
 - ✓ Advance sustainable and digital trade

...the importance of considering the appropriate balance between financial, environmental and social considerations

How to enhance sustainable procurement?

Sustainable procurement processes should be integrated with ethical standards

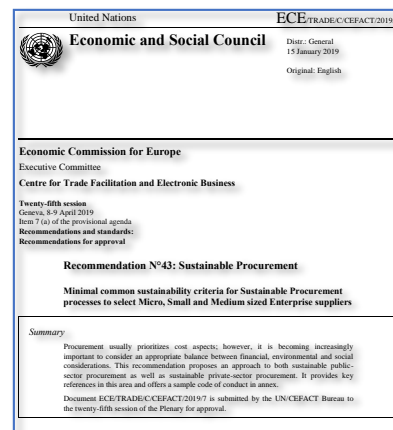

Buying entities should consider the difficulties of their potential suppliers

The selection of responsible suppliers must rely on a collaborative effort between different stakeholders along the supply chain

Avoid any form of trade limitation that is justified by supposed sustainability needs
