

COP25 Chile

Outcomes on just transition

Moustapha Kamal Gueye,
Coordinator, Green Jobs Programme, ILO

Just transition – why it matters

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c69pAFoT1p4>

Enhancing ambition by addressing social and political drivers

- The emerging positive narrative on just transition

“On our current trajectory we are looking at a 3- to 4-degree temperature rise by the end of the century. But we can choose another path. The path of climate action and well-being for people and planet. And this path is about people’s jobs, health, education, opportunities, and their future.” UN Secretary-General, Madrid, 12 December 2019

- Commitment by countries to formulate just transition plans to enable higher ambition on climate change (so far 46 countries).

COP25 negotiations

- Paris Agreement: “Taking into account the imperatives of a just transition of the workforce and the creation of decent work and quality jobs in accordance with nationally defined development priorities”
- Negotiations on Response Measures under the SBSTA and SBI
 - Improved Forum on the impacts of the implementation of response measures (established by Decision 11/CP.21 at COP 21, in 2015)
 - “Katowice Committee of Experts on the Impacts of the Implementation of Response Measures” (KCI)
- COP25 Decision:
 - Rules of procedure of the Katowice Committee on Impacts (Annex I)
 - Workplan of the forum on the impacts of the implementation of response measures and its Katowice Committee of Experts on the impacts of the implementation of response measures (Annex II)

The Climate Action for Jobs Initiative

- A roadmap and support programme for countries to formulate and implement national just transition plans

