• Next steps
Mandate and scope

• Substantially identical decisions taken by all three 2011 meetings of the conferences of the parties
• Authorizes staffing flexibility during the 2012-2013 biennium as long as the budget ceiling is not exceeded
• Requests a proposal from the Executive Secretary for the organization of the three conventions by 31 December 2011; to be implemented by 31 December 2012
• Requests a second “full proposal” from the UNEP Executive Director for consideration by the 2013 COPs
• Proposal limited to the Basel and Stockholm secretariats and the UNEP part of the Rotterdam secretariat
• Also includes certain performance criteria for the 2013 COP
Overview of the process followed to develop the proposal

• It was essential to have three substantially identical COP decisions on joint managerial functions; holding the 2011 COPs was the highest priority of the secretariat.

• April-December 2011 provided the opportunity for the Executive Secretary to:
  – evaluate the performance of the secretariat in performing its duties
  – meet with all regional groups at each of the COPs to get input on possible restructuring and priorities for the secretariat
  – meet with all staff one-to-one to obtain individual secretariat member perspectives – establish a task force on restructuring to perform an operations analysis of the secretariat, and – provide the FAO part of the Rotterdam secretariat, and the UNEP Executive Director with the opportunity for input

Summary of the proposal (3)

- Advantages and disadvantages
- Timeline for implementation
- Management oversight
- Annexes
  - Draft vision statement
  - Summary of views expressed by parties and secretariat staff relevant to the organization
  - Report of the task force on restructuring
  - Demographics
Financial matters

• Need to stay within the 2012-2013 budget
• Need to absorb costs of the Executive Secretary by 2013 COPs
• Need to achieve synergies in other areas
• Wanted to maintain separation between the organization proposal and possible cost cutting actions.
• But, a key question is - how to fill management posts ($1.3 million/year)?
  – Hiring freeze in place since April 2011
  – Attrition – two departures since April 2011 (saves $300,000/year)
  – Consolidation of space (saves $130,000/year)
  – Projected future attrition (saves $600,000/year)
  – Cost-effective holding of 2013 COPs (saves between $950,000-$1.4 million/year)
    – Any posts filled by internal candidates would offset needed costs by $250,000-$300,000/year
• Filling management posts will require assurance that sufficient savings have been found to stay within overall budget
Management oversight

• Implementing the new structure will require new management oversight tools to ensure accountability and legal autonomy
• Addresses key points in 2011 audit by OIOS
• Time accounting system
• Increased transparency
  – Workplans would be posted on the web, and progress would be reported quarterly
  – Quarterly financial reporting would be posted on the web
  – Quarterly “synergies” reporting (costs and benefits)
  – Standard operating procedures for all secretariat functions would be established and posted on the web
Task forces

• Secretariat task forces have been key to developing the proposal, and will be essential to its success
• Restructuring task force
  – Developed an operations analysis
  – Developed the future functional organigramme
  – Will support the transition
  – Work forms the basis for future standard operating procedures
• Space task force
  – Modeled the move to the 3rd floor into contiguous space based on future branches
• Sustainability task force
  – Looking at improving the secretariat’s environmental and resource sustainability
• Training task force
  – Building a training programme for all secretariat staff, including training that can smooth transition into the new structure
Vision

- Without a vision, how do you know where you are going?
- Helps organize people around common goals, objectives and attitudes
- Signals to stakeholders what they should expect
- Provides a frame of reference for evaluating the success of the secretariat
- Comments welcome!!!
