

INVITATION

Nature-based Solutions and Food Geneva Nature-based Solutions Dialogues

13 September 2021 | 15:00 CEST
Online

 Nature

 SDG2 | SDG14 | SDG15

www.genevaenvironmentnetwork.org

ABOUT THIS SESSION

The Nature-based Solutions and Food Dialogue is the fifth of a journey convened in the run-up to various international negotiations. It is organized ahead of the UN Food Systems Summit to be held during the UN General Assembly, on 23 September 2021.

Nature-based Solutions (NbS) are designed to improve the ecosystem services provided by nature. In agriculture, it can provide numerous benefits including the provision of food, hydrological services and regulation of climate. Farming practices that increase soil biodiversity include sustainably managing soil water and nutrients, controlling erosion, and maintaining groundcover.

With approximately one half of the world's habitable lands used for agriculture, and the global food production needs are expected to increase in coming years, the food production system has a massive impact on our planet.

As it is now time to join forces and take action to meet the increasing demand on the food system while halting further land degradation, leading experts at this session will discuss why NbS represent a key pathway for achieving this goal while contributing to established international and global targets. Adopting NbS approaches to better our food systems is essential to meeting the fundamental human right to food and contribute to multiple imperatives of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda.

Further details at <http://tiny.cc/NbS13Sep>

SPEAKERS

by intervention order

- Jonathan DAVIES, Global Coordinator, Global Drylands Initiative, IUCN
- James LOMAX, Sustainable Food Systems and Agriculture Programme Officer, UNEP
- Frank EYHORN, CEO, Biovision
- Allan Mugarura NDAGIJE, Focal Point for Environment and Agriculture, Permanent Mission of Uganda to UN Geneva
- Femy PINTO, Executive Director, Non-Timber Forest Products Exchange Programme
- Additional speaker TBC

REGISTRATION

The event will take place online. Kindly register directly on the Webex platform.

<http://tiny.cc/NbS13SepReg>

