INVITATION

You are cordially invited to the Geneva Stockholm+50 Dialogue "Jobs and a just transition for all in a healthy planet", organized by the International Labour Office and the Geneva Environment Network, and co-sponsored by Sweden, on Earth Day.

Five decades after the 1972 United Nations Conference on the Human Environment made the link between environment and poverty and placed it at the forefront of the international agenda, Stockholm will welcome the world again on 2 – 3 June 2022 for the international conference “Stockholm+50: a healthy planet for the prosperity of all – our responsibility, our opportunity” (Stockholm+50). The event will provide leaders with an opportunity to draw on 50 years of multilateral environmental action to achieve the bold and urgent action needed to secure a better future on a healthy planet.

Our jobs and businesses depend on a healthy planet. The triple planetary crisis of climate change, biodiversity loss and pollution are disrupting millions of jobs and livelihoods. Our future depends on a just transition to a carbon and resource efficient economy. ILO studies show for example that implementing the Paris Agreement on Climate Change could create a net gain of 18 million jobs by 2030. The landmark UN Environment Assembly Resolution “End Plastic Pollution: Towards a legally binding instrument” and other outcomes of the UN Environment Assembly and the multilateral environmental agreements offer also major opportunities to create new jobs.

This event will address the global environment agenda and its implications for decent work. Leading experts will discuss the employment implication of a global regulation on plastics, the development of circular economies, changing food systems, land and biodiversity, maritime and blue economy, and set the stage for Stockholm+50.
